

April 11 - Film Screenings and Panel Discussion on the occasion of the 40th anniversary of Vietnam's reunification

Công Binh - la longue nuit indochinoise

Directed by Lam Lê; (2012)

"... a page of the history between France and Viet Nam which has shamefully been erased from the collective memory."

Last Days in Vietnam

Directed by Rory Kennedy (2014)

Nominated for an Academy Award for Best Documentary Feature; Writers Guild Documentary Screenplay Award; and Critics Choice Award by the Broadcast Film Critics Association.

"Masterpiece" —The New Yorker

PANELISTS:

Lam Le, Director, Công Binh

Kiem Do, Navy captain in South Vietnam; deputy chief of staff for operations during the war.

Paul Jacobs, Commander, U.S. Navy, retired; Commanding Officer U.S.S. Kirk during the Vietnam War.

Nayan Chanda, Journalist reporting from Saigon in the final days of the Vietnam War.

11:45 - 7:00 p.m. - Luce Hall Auditorium, 34 Hillhouse Avenue, New Haven, CT
See <http://www.yale.edu/seas/VietnamFilms2015> for synopses and program schedule

Sponsored by the Council on Southeast Asia Studies, Yale University